THE SOUTHERN ROAD.

A "Citizens' Committee" organized. An organization known as the "Citizens' Association of Cincinnati," has been formed and an appeal made to the people asking them to join in the movement by identifying themselves with that association by membership and by contributing sufficient money to sustain an appeal for redress to the courts.

The association has elected officers as follows: Henry Hanna, President; J. J. Glidden, H. H. Raschig, Secretaries; Francis Seifert, Treasurer; Fred. Hassaurek, Alexander Long, John Robinson, Ed. L. Anderson, and Herman Mark-ward, Business Committee. Besides these there are two Vice Presidents on each election precinct, who are to act as Executive Committees for their respective wards, and whose duty it shall be to form ward and precinct organizations.

A constitution has been adopted which provides the following:

"Article 1. The object of the society shall be to resist improper, illegal, or extortionate taxation, in the courts and at the polls, and especially to prevent an increase of our municipal indebtedness for Southern Railroad purposes."

"Act 3. The funds of the Association shall be raised by voluntary contributions by members, and by collections among those favorable to our cause."

The appeal to the people institutes a comparison between the total funded debt of the city in 1869 and 1878, showing that the increase in nine years has been $19,077,083.61. It claims that the cost of the Southern Railroad is nearly $4,000 a day yearly, and amounts to almost one-third of the entire bonded debt of Cincinnati in 1869.

The appeal arraigns the Trustees for squandering the city's money, and that they have hitherto been responsible to no one, and that there was no appeal from their actions heretofore.

They therefore determined to have the question brought before the courts to see whether the power of the Trustees can or cannot be broken.

YESTERDAY'S FIRES.

The Co-operative Foundry destroyed—Blaze at the Gambrian Stock Company.

A vicious and disastrous fire occurred at a quarter of 6 o'clock yesterday morning, calling the whole Fire Department to the Co-operative Foundry Association building, Nos. 121 to 129 Gest street, near Harriet.

The building was five stories in height and was one of the largest in the West End. It was erected eight years ago by an association of leading foundry foremen and laborers who pooled their earnings, for the purpose of manufacturing marbledized mantels, grates and light castings, and cost $20,000. The stockholders number about thirty. The boiler and engine are situated in the basement.

On the first floor was a large amount of machinery, on the second material for packing goods, stock, etc., and on the third and fourth floors furnaces and more stock. The building is connected with a two-story one at the east, and this was the foundry proper. In the rear part of this building stood the cupola, used for melting the ore for castings.

Next to Court street there was another two-story structure, containing several thousand dollars' worth of patterns.

In the neighborhood of the cupola the flames were first seen, and a few moments afterward the whole building was in a blaze. A few minutes after the arrival of the Fire Department, the roof of the main building soon gave way, and the contents of every story tumbled up by the force fire. The walls alone remain intact.

It is supposed that the fire is the work of an incendiary, as the private watchman, Charles Smith, left the place a few minutes before, and is positive that there was no fire in the building then.

The total loss to the Association—that is, the amount not insured—will not fall short of $40,000, the largest item in this being that of stock, which will amount to fully $20,000. A hundred or more hands are thrown out of employment.

The insurance on the two-story building is as follows: Phoenix Mutual, Cincinnati, $1,500; Merchants & Manufacturers, Mansfield, $2,400; Merchants' Mutual, Cincinnati, $1,200; Manufacturers' Mutual, Cincinnati, $1,200; Van Vert Mutual, Van Vert, $600; Total, $7,200.

The loss on this part of the premises will not exceed $1,200.

The main building sustained the heaviest loss. The insurance on the contents is distributed as follows:

On building.....$ 7,000
On stock.....7,000
On machinery and gear.....450
On engine and boiler.....500
On tools, fixtures, patterns and fallow-boards.....2,500

Total.....$17,500

The companies holding policies on these are: Enterprise; Fire Assurance, of Philadelphia; Springfield Fire and Marine; Phoenix, of Hartford; Phoenix Mutual, of Cincinnati; Richmond Mutual, of Mansfield, and Mutual Fire, of Cincinnati.

The alarm from Box 78, at half-past 5 o'clock yesterday morning, was due to an unexplainable blaze in the roof of the ice-house attached to the Gambrian Stock Company's brewery, at the corner of Hunt and Sycamore streets. Loss $500, covered by insurance.

MUSIC HALL ORGAN.

That Mortgage Canceled at Last. The mortgage of $15,000 on the big Music Hall organ has been cancelled at last, and now the immense instrument is free from debt and becomes the property of the Music Hall Association. This will secure peace between the parties composing the Musical Festival Association, the Organ Association and the Music Hall Association.

A meeting was held last Saturday evening to settle the dispute. Among those present were W. W. Taylor, Secretary; Joseph Longworth, Chairman; Rufus King, R. K. Springer, John Shillito, Alex. Hill, Kenner Gerard, John Church, Julius Dexter, Robert Mitchell, L. B. Harrison, Geo. W. Jones, J. Gilmore and George Ward Nichols.

Mr. Springer gave it as his opinion that the best thing to do with the surplus profits of the Festival was to appropriate sufficient funds to pay off the debt on the organ.

A long discussion ensued, which resulted in the passage of a resolution to dispose of the funds as follows:

1. Ten thousand dollars is set aside as a reserve fund.

2. A donation is made sufficient to pay the debt on the organ—say less than $15,000.

3. The Board of Directors are authorized to distribute a sum not exceeding $3,500, among the Singing Societies taking part in the Festival.

4. The residue remaining after the above are provided for is to be donated to the Music Hall.

New Publications.

"Off on a Comet," by Jules Verne, translated by E. Rotin, is just published. It is a characteristic work of the author of "The American Gun Club," "Around the World in Eighty Days," etc. These stories are the most singular compound of exaggeration and science that can be conceived of, and are not only interesting, but every page conveys some piece of valuable information.

Published by Claxton, Remond & Haffelinger, Philadelphia, and for sale by Robert Clarke & Co.

"Russia, A Trip Up the Volga,"—The great interest now taken in every thing pertaining to Russia and the manners and customs of her people makes the publication of this work very opportune. The author takes a comprehensive glance at the vast empire of the Russians, its trade, its resources, and its material progress of Russia since the Crimean war. We know of no other work of the kind that contains in such small compass so much valuable and entertaining information. Porter & Coates, Philadelphia, publishers. For sale by Robert Clarke & Co., and all booksellers.

"Five Thousand in Gold" is a bright little story full of interest and without a particle of type. It is intensely interesting without being in the least bit overdone. Published by Oliver Ellsworth & Co., Boston.

"Footprints in the Snow" is a new novel by Miss Dora Russell. It is just the book for the season, with a glorious heroine, and full of thrilling scenes. It is published by Loring, Boston, and for sale by Robt. Clarke & Co.

The Marshals of the different Catholic Societies met to-morrow evening at Mozart Hall to make the final arrangements for laying the corner stone of the new St. Francis of Sales Church, East Walnut Hills, Sunday, June 30th.

At St. Philomena Catholic Church yesterday the occasion of Father Weber celebrating his first mass was made an important and pleasant event. The Church was crowded to its utmost and the full choir, under the efficient direction of the leader, Mr. Pabst, did excellent service. Haydn's grand Imperial Third Mass was finely rendered, with full orchestra accompaniment.

The choir was assisted by Miss Heilich, Mr. J. F. Dunnie, Mr. Henry Midendorf, Mr. David Roberts and Mr. Sweeney. Miss Heilich sang "Alma Virgo" very finely. Father Kemper preached an eloquent sermon, which was heard with great interest.

Socialism.

A meeting of Socialists was held Saturday night in Bethlehem, northwest of the Lookout House.

Mr. Philip Van Patten, Secretary of the National Executive Committee, was one of the speakers. He said that the talk about an uprising and about a commune was all newspaper talk. That they should show their strength at the ballot-box, and send to Washington who represented the labor class. As to religion, the speaker said that the ministers did not preach the maxim of "Live and let live," and if they would do so there would be "little fear of the burning of churches or the shooting of Archbishops."

About one hundred of the so-called Socialists met at Arbeiter Hall yesterday afternoon and held a very orderly meeting. Several speeches were made, but nothing was said or done which could be considered out of the way.

We Went Fishing.

The North Side Social of the Twenty-fifth Ward resolved itself into a fishing party, and on last Saturday repaired to the banks of the "deep blue Miami" for a day's fun and recreation. They were received by Captain Frank Harris, of the famous Modock Fishing Club, who extended to the party the hospitality of his camp, and gave them valuable instructions in fishing and camping.

The day was one of nature's best, the zephyrs waved the green foliage that fringed the shores laved by the deep blue waters bearing on its bosom gondolas of fair ladies whose merry laughter went rippling in sweet concord with the cadence of the bright onward current. Good luck crowned every effort, for when the dinner hour arrived fish was served sumptuously from Capt. Frank's culinary, and with the delicacies from the bountiful baskets it was indeed the realities of fishing in a grand feast.

Bert Gale received a note just after dinner, but refused to disclose its meaning. Al Messerly caught the first fish, and John Beck carried it off for him in his vest pocket. Charley Marshall fished in vain, and had mackerel next morning for breakfast. Mike Knaul passed round the vial. Ike Smith don't drink, and Al Holley only on the occasions.

Keeler was resigned to every joy, and was the happy man of the day.

A most worthy feature of the occasion was the good eatables contributed by the ladies, among whom were Mrs. Blinn, Keeler, Johnson, Marshall, Messerly, Beck, Monroe, Gale, Knaul, Williamson, Smith, and Holley, of Hartwell.

There are always genial spirits who can be the soul of such occasions, and upon this Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Johnson proved to be the ones. They entered into the fun with an enviable abandon and gilded the hours with a constant and happy good humor. To those who participated in this fish it was the day of their life, and at a late hour, after expressing gratitude to Captain Harris and bidding him adieu, the party enjoyed a pleasant ride to their homes under a moonlit sky.

WADE HARRIS, a deaf and dumb man, charged with committing a burglary upon the premises of Bussing's Bank, was brought before Judge Longworth Saturday and remanded for trial.
